ANNAPOLIS, (Maryland) August 29.

ONDAY morning last, a considerable number of people, ASSERTORS of BRITISH AMERICAN PRIVILEDGES, met here, to shew their detestation of, and abhorrence to, some late tremendous attacks on LIBERTY, and their due regard to a certain late-arrived St——p M[illegible], A NATIVE OF THIS PROVINCE! They curiously dressed up the figure of a man, which they placed in a one-horse cart, malefactor-like, with some sheets of paper in his hands before his face: In that manner they paraded thro' the streets of the town, 'till noon, the bell at the same time tolling a solemn knell; when they proceeded to the hill, and after giving it the most MOSAIC LAW, at the whipping-post, placed it in the pillory; from whence they took it and hung it to a gibbet erected for that purpose, and then set fire to a tar-barrel underneath, and burnt it, till it fell into the barrel. By the many significant nods of the head, while in the cart, it may be said to have gone off very penitently.

BOSTON, September 2.

Extract of a letter from a gentleman in Newport, Rhode-Island, to one in this town, August 29, 1765.

My dear Friend,

"I just took pen in hand to inform you that in following the example of your people, we had gone beyond all bounds; but was interrupted by hearing of the unhappy affair which followed in Boston; and therefore desist in pointing out how far the behaviour here exceeded that of your place: However shall give you some account of the proceedings in this town.

You must know that previous to anything done in public, there were hints given out that the effigies of some certain persons were preparing to be exhibited on Tuesday, when there was to be a meeting of the freemen of the town for the choice of the deputies; one of the gentlemen hearing of it, immediately advertised in the Monday's paper, that he still maintained the opinions in his Halifax letter, which made some uneasiness in the minds of the people; he thereupon with two or three others removed out of town with their effects: On Tuesday about nine o' clock in the morning the populace brought forth the effigies of three persons in a cart, each of them with a rope about their necks, and carried them to the gallows about twenty feet high, placed near the town house, on which they were exhibited to public view the whole day, where great numbers of people resorted. The good opinion the chief actors in this affair had imbibed of your great patriot, induced them to extract from his pamphlets several mottos which they thought would best describe the persons and their sentiments to the populace, and are as follows.

On the stamp-man a S painted on his forehead, and stamp-man in capitals on his breast.

At his left hand, M—r—e H—t—d, with an S on his forehead, and on his breast, that favouring, inditing, informer carnicide, Martinus Scriblerus. His neck, with that of his accomplice, connected with a rope, to which was appended a paper with this inscription we have an hereditary, indefeasible right to an halter;—both, we on an equal the growth of hemp you know.—In his right hand he held his Halifax letter, and on his right arm inscribed, the only filial pen.—From his mouth issued this label, directed towards his left arm, what avails my exalted independence—posterity will curse my memory.—And on his left arm this sentence, curs'd ambition, accursed elation, ye have ruined me!

On the right hand of the stamp-man hung, with the letter S painted on his forehead, Dr. Murphy, and on his breast, that formale, inforcated, leering Jacobite, Dr. Murphy. Out of his mouth issued this label, we cannot complain Martinus, we deserve this and more.—In his right hand he held a letter, directed to that Mungrugeon of knowledge, Dr. —— Murphy, Newport, Rhode Island. And on his right arm, if I had received this letter from the Earl of —— but a week sooner. And on his left arm, it is too late now, Martinus, to talk about, we are all agreed.

On one of the posts out of reach, Whoever attempts, in any manner whatsoever, to render ineffectual this mark of public contempt, will be deemed an enemy to liberty, and incur the resentment of the town.

These effigies having hung till night, they were then cut down and burnt under the gallows, amidst the acclamations of the people; which being done, they returned very orderly to their respective homes.

The next morning the gentlemen who had retired out of town, returned with their effects without any obstruction, until the afternoon, when an inhabitant of the town who had received a private injury from the collector of the customs here, meeting him in the street with Mr. H—w—d, he insisted on satisfaction; whereupon the collector retired and got on board the man of war; and Mr. H—w—d reproving the person for his insolence, provoked the populace in such a manner, that when evening came they mustered and beset the house of Martin Howard, jun. Esq; entered and broke and destroyed the goods, furniture, and every thing therein, leaving only a shell of the house; they then proceeded to the house of Dr. Thomas Moffat, where they behaved in the same manner; from whence they intended for the house of Augustus Johnston, Esq; who had been appointed distributor of the stamps, but were stop'd and parleyed with by a gentleman, who informed them that the house was not the property of Mr. Johnston; and being convinced of the truth thereof, they desisted, upon being treated with a quantity of liquor; but insisted that the gentleman should deliver up Mr. Johnston's effects the next day, which were then in the house, unless he resigned the office he had been appointed to; whereupon on Thursday morning he returned to town, and gave them under his hand that he would not accept of the office without their approbation, which resolution was immediately published through the town.

One of the gang, a foreigner, lately transported from England to America, who had been active, was taken up and committed to goal; he behaved in a most insolent manner, declaring himself to be the chief conductor of these last riotous proceedings.

Thus I have given you a short account of the disorders here; what will be the event of them, and the conduct of the people in several other places, God only knows. Yours, &c."

NEWPORT, (RHODE-ISLAND) September 2.

The General Assembly of this colony, at their last sessions, appointed Henry Ward, and Metcalf Bowler, Esqrs Commissioners for the intended Congress to be holden at New-York in October next, in order to agree on the most probable methods to obtain Redress for the injured and oppress'd British Colonies on this Continent.

The following is said to be a true Copy of the RESOLUTIONS of the General Assembly of this Colony, passed unanimously at their last Session.

THIS Assembly taking into their most serious consideration, an Act passed by the Parliament of Great-Britain, at their last sessions, for levying STAMP DUTIES, and other internal Duties, in North America, DO RESOLVE,

1. That the first adventurers, settlers of this his Majesty's colony and dominions of RHODE-ISLAND and PROVIDENCE Plantations, brought with them and transmitted to their posterity, and all other his Majesty's subjects, since inhabiting in this his Majesty's colony, all the privileges and immunities that have at any time been held, enjoyed and possessed by the people of Great-Britain.

2. That by a charter, granted by KING CHARLES the II. in the 15th year of his reign, the colony aforesaid, is declared and entitled to all privileges and immunities of natural-born subjects, to all intents and purposes, as if they had been abiding and born within the realm of England.

3. That his Majesty's liege people of this colony have enjoyed the right of being governed by their own Assembly, the article of taxes and internal police; and that the same have never being forfeited or any other way yielded up, but have been constantly recognized by the King and people of Britain.

4. That, therefore, the General Assembly of this colony, have, in their representative capacity, the only exclusive right to lay taxes and imposts upon the inhabitants of this colony: And every attempt to vest such power in any person or persons whatever, other than the general assembly aforesaid, is unconstitutional, and hath a manifest tendency to destroy the liberties of the people of this colony.

5. That his Majesty's liege people, the inhabitants of this colony, are not bound to yield obedience to any law or ordinances, designed to impose any internal taxation whatsoever upon them, other than the laws or ordinances of the general assembly aforesaid.

6. That all the officers in this colony, appointed by the authority thereof, be, and they are hereby directed, to proceed in the execution of their respective offices, in the same manner as usual: And that this assembly will indemnify and save harmless all the officers, on account of their conduct agreeable to this resolution.

Mr. Johnston has been obliged (to appease the mob, and for the safety of his own life) to issue a printed resignation, subscribed by an oath, that he will not execute the stamp office.

ANNAPOLIS, (in Maryland) September 5.

Wednesday last week, a number of reputable persons assembled together at Baltimore-Town, and diverted themselves with carting, whipping, hanging and burning the effigies of a distributor of stamps.

On Thursday, the same happened at Elk-Ridge; and on Monday, at Frederick-Town in Frederick county: Exhibitions of this sort being now very common in this province, as well as other parts.

Monday night last, a number of people unknown, assembled in this town, and pulled down a house lately rented by a certain unwelcome officer.

PHILADELPHIA, September 5.

We are informed that WILLIAM COXE, Esq; has sent a resignation of the stamp-office for New-Jersey, to the Lords Commissioners of the treasury, and assigned his reasons.

SEPTEMBER 12.

Monday last the General Assembly of this province met here, when the following gentlemen, viz. Joseph Fox, Speaker, John Dickerson, John Morton, and George Bryan, Esqrs. were chosen as a committee to join those from the other provinces, at a meeting to be held at New York, the first tuesday in October.

BOSTON, SEPTEMBER 16.

We hear that the Governor, with the advice of the council, has given orders for discontinuing the levies for reinforcing the garrison of the castle, and for discharging the men already enlisted for that purpose.

In Capt. Deverson from London, came passengers, Doct. Lincoln, and George Meffervey, Esq;——The last mentioned gentleman was appointed distributor of the STAMPS for the province of New-Hampshire; but previous to his coming on shore he sent a letter to a friend to be communicated to the public, signifying, that if such an office would be disagreeable to the people in general, he should resign it; the intelligence of this induced a great number of his friends and other gentlemen, to repair to the Long-Wharf, and wait his landing; as soon as Mr. Meffervey came on shore he confirmed what he before had wrote, and declared, as he was the unhappy man who had personally accepted of an office odious to his countrymen, he freely resigned it, and determined never to act in that capacity: Upon this three cheers was given, by a vast concourse of people, which were repeated at the head of the wharf, and again at the Exchange.

We hear that none of the Stamp Papers, except one box for New-Hampshire, came in Capt. Deverson.

We hear, that it was the opinion of many of the principal people at home, that the STAMP-ACT would be suspended; and that under the present administration the colonies would be eased of many of the burthens that have been laid upon them.

The resignation of Mr. Meffervey, with the intelligence extraordinary brought by Capt. Deverson, more especially the change of the ministry, created joy in the breasts of many; and in the evening many loyal healths were drank, by numbers of gentlemen who met at several public places for that purpose; but it did not rest here, for the morning following (wednesday) was ushered in with the ringing of all the bells in town, and joy and gladness appeared in every countenance; at the south part of the town the trees, for which many have so great a veneration, were decorated with the ensigns of loyalty, and the colours embroider'd with several mottos, (which we have not been able to obtain—) on the body of the largest tree was fixed with large deck nails, that it might last (as a Poet said, "like Oaken bench to Perpetuity") a copper-plate, with these words stamped thereon, in Golden Letters, THE TREE OF LIBERTY, August 14. 1765. A report of these decorations collected a great many of the inhabitants who were at leisure, where they were saluted with the firing of a number of chambers, and regaled with plenty of liquor. Towards evening a guard of men armed, belonging to the militia, were posted near the trees, when the colours were struck, to prevent any disorders that might arise among such a concourse.

It should have been mentioned above, that after one o'clock, some of the train of artillery brought down some cannon, placed them before the Town-House and fired several rounds; but we hear, this was done without any order or leave from the Commander in Chief, or even giving notice to the Governor and Council, who were then sitting in the Council Chamber, of their intention.

The Freeholders and other inhabitants of the town of Boston, are to meet at Faneuil-Hall, at three o'clock in the afternoon, then and there, agreeable to the request of a number of the principal inhabitants to confer upon such measures as shall appear to them necessary to be taken in consequence of the Stamp-Act, and other matters of grievance, and to determine whether instructions shall be given their representatives in general assembly, for their conduct at this very alarming crisis.

PHILADELPHIA,
Saturday, September 21, 1765. A. M.

In ASSEMBLY.

THE House taking into consideration, that an Act of Parliament has lately passed in England for imposing certain Stamp-Duties, and other Duties, on his Majesty's subjects in America, whereby they conceive some of their most essential and valuable rights, as British subjects, to be deeply affected, think it a duty they owe to themselves, and their posterity, to come to the following RESOLUTIONS, viz.

RESOLVED, N. C. D. That the Assembly of this province have, from time to time, whenever requisitions have been made by his ties, most chearfully and liberally contributed their full proportion of Men and Money, for those services.

RESOLVED, N. C. D. That whenever his Majesty's service shall, for the future, require the aids of the inhabitants of this province, and they shall be called upon for that purpose, in a CONSTITUTIONAL WAY, it will be their indispensable duty, most chearfully and liberally to grant to his Majesty their proportion of Men and Money, for the defence, security, and other public services of the British American Colonies.

RESOLVED, N. C. D. That the inhabitants of this province, are intitled to all the liberties, rights and privileges of his Majesty's subjects in Great-Britain, or elsewhere; and that the constitution of government in this province is founded on the natural rights of mankind, and the wise principles of English liberty, and therefore is, or ought to be, perfectly free.

RESOLVED, N. C. D. That it is the inherent birthright, and indubitable privilege, of every British subject, to be taxed only by his own consent, or that of his legal representative, in conjunction with his Majesty or his substitutes.

RESOLVED, N. C. D. That the only legal Representatives of the inhabitants of this province, are the persons they annually elect to serve as Members of Assembly.

RESOLVED, N. C. D. That the taxation of the people of this province by any other persons whatsoever, than such their Representatives in Assembly, is UNCONSTITUTIONAL, and subversive of their most valuable rights.

RESOLVED, N. C. D. That the laying taxes upon the inhabitants of this province IN ANY OTHER MANNER, being manifestly subversive of public liberty, must of necessary consequence, be utterly destructive of public happiness.

RESOLVED, N. C. D. That the vesting an authority in the Courts of Admiralty to decide in suits relating to the Stamp Duties, and other matters, foreign to their proper jurisdiction, is highly dangerous to the liberties of his Majesty's American subjects, contrary to Magna Charta, the great Charter and Fountain of English Liberty, and destructive of one of their most DARLING and ACKNOWLEDGED RIGHTS, that of TRIAL BY JURIES.

RESOLVED, N. C. D. That it is the opinion of this House, that the restraints imposed by several late Acts of Parliament on the trade of this province, at a time when the people labour under an enormous load of debt, must of necessity be attended with the most fatal consequences, not only to this province, but to the trade of our Mother Country.

RESOLVED, N. C. D. That this House think it their duty, thus firmly to assert, with modesty and decency, their inherent rights, that their posterity may learn and know, that it was not with their consent and acquiescence, that any taxes should be levied on them by any persons, but their own Representatives, and are desirous that these their Resolves, should remain on their minutes, as a testimony of the zeal and ardent desire of the present House of Assembly to preserve their INESTIMABLE RIGHTS, which, as Englishmen, they have possessed ever since this province was settled, and to transmit them to their last posterity.

Extract of a Letter from Fort-Pitt, August 22.

"To-morrow Captain Thomas Stirling, with 100 men of the 42d regiment, leaves this in Battoes to take possession of the Illinois. Mr. Croghan, the Indian Agent, having met the French Indians before he reached their country, and settled some preliminaries with them, is gone to d'Etroit to hold a grand council."

We hear from Lancaster, that the people of that county had diverted themselves with the representation of the Stamp-Master for this province.

We hear that Z------h He-d, Stamp-Master for Maryland, after having, unperceived, left Annapolis, his place of residence, hurried on by his fear, rode his Horse to death, and hardly gave himself time to breathe, till he got under the protection of the cannon of Fort-George, in New-York, where he remains hid from the resentment of his countrymen, but not from the terrors of his conscience.

We have certain advice from Newcastle, upon Delaware, that the Representatives of that government have appointed their Speaker, Thomas M'Kean, and Cæsar Rodney, Esqrs. to attend the ensuing Congress at New York.

NEW-YORK, SEPTEMBER 23.

We hear that Mr. Jared Ingersol, Stamp-Master for the colony of Connecticut, has actually resigned that office.

CHARLES-TOWN, OCTOBER 5.

LETTERS from the Cherokee country, dated the 13th September, advise, that Capt. Watts, with the Little-Carpenter and his party that went to Virginia, having returned unmolested, and with full assurances from Governor Fauquier that satisfaction should be given, as soon as the murderers of 8 of their people last Summer could be taken, and that the utmost endeavours should be used to take them, the nation seem'd to be perfectly quiet & peaceable:—That the Great-Warrior, instead of going to take satisfaction of the Virginians, had set out on the 5th, with 15 Warriors, against the Northern Indians, their enemies:—That the Little-Carpenter, and Willanawah had set out on the same errand, the 8th, with 20 Warriors; and another large party from Hywassah the 9th. And that there came with the Little-Carpenter from Virginia, a German named HAMMERER, to civilize, humanize and educate the Cherokees.—One of our correspondents writes concerning this man's errand in these words, viz. "The poor man's design is laudable, but it will take a great many Hammerers to execute his plan. I wish he may not be told as a countryman of his was by the Delawares, whom he was well acquainted with and wanted to hear the Word of God, as they had formerly heard it from him: For this purpose he spoke to a Headman, who tried to assemble them, but to no purpose; the Indians asked him, if the Preacher had brought any Rum, and being told not, they bid the Headman tell him, that people who had such talks as he had to deliver, should bring a keg of Rum for every talk, and then they should gather very fast."

Wednesday last arrived here in the brig. Prince of Wales, Capt. Mason, from Philadelphia, Mr. John Lloyd, and Mrs. Lloyd, Mrs. Holmes, Mrs. Martin, Mr. Hill, &c. by whom we have the agreeable news of the safe arrival of Thomas Lynch, Christopher Gadsden, and John Rutledge, Esqrs. (the committee appointed by the commons house of assembly of this colony, to meet the committees of the northern colonies, that were to assemble last Tuesday) at New-York, after a passage of 11 days.

Same day the Charles-Town artillery company were mustered, exercised the cannon, and made some good shots; after which they fired three vollies of small arms, upon the joyful news of their captain, Christopher Gadsden, Esqr's. safe arrival at New-York.

The brig. St. Cuthbert, Joseph Forster, master, from George-Town, which put in here the 26th ult. to stop some leaks, is bound for London.

In the scooner East-Florida, which sailed from hence the 27 embarked the hon. William Drayton, Esq; chief justice of East-Florida, and John Stuart, Esq; superintendent of Indian affairs southern district of America.

Wednesday put in here to refit, having lost her mast, and sustained other damage, the ship Friends Goodwill, John Biggs, master, from George-Town, bound for London.

Tuesday last died, at Goose-Creek, in the 65th year of the last 40 of which he lived in this colony, Peter Taylor, Esq native of Ireland, formerly commissary-general, and a gentleman universally beloved.

Wednesday, died in the 85th year of her age, the last of the first who lived in this town, Mrs. Anne Milner, a native of Barbadoes, who, while she was able, delighted in doing good to the Yeſterday a brigantine that will carry upwards of 600 barrels of rice, built by Mr. Lebby, for Mr. Robert Smyth, was launch'd near this town, and called the Smith. The launch was a fine one, and ſhe is eſteemed as good a veſſel as can be built in England.

To the FREEHOLDERS, and others intereſted in the Election of REPRESENTATIVES in the next General Aſſembly of the Colony of South-Carolina.

BRETHREN and COUNTRYMEN,

ALTHO, my circumſtances are but low, I take the liberty, which every free-born Britiſh ſubject has a right to, to addreſs a few thoughts to your ſerious conſideration, on the approaching ſolemn occaſion of chooſing men fit to repreſent you in aſſembly. This hath hitherto been regarded as a matter of little or no conſequence, notwithſtanding it required the higheſt circumſpection on your parts, to be well aſſured, whether the abilities, and integrity of the perſons entruſted with not only your own, but your poſterity's liberties, fortunes and even lives, were equal to the confidence you repoſed in them; and ſurely never was a time in which more caution was neceſſary than the preſent!

I hope, my countrymen, your intention is to prefer honeſt and ſenſible men only to this important change, whereby the danger of corruption and errors of judgment will more probably be avoided, ſeeing the effects of either might prove fatal to us. But we are leſs likely to have the vicious and abandoned obtruded upon us, than the plauſible ſmooth PATRIOT, who promiſes fair, talks and perhaps treats well, intends to carry home important thing for the town or country which he will be ſure to forget, creeps into your affections for an hour, and then deſerves your HATRED for ever: However negligent of the public good or diligent to promote ſelfiſh and unwarrantable ſchemes he may have been in former ſeſſions, he will perhaps now condemn meaſures that he was before at the bottom of, in order to act the ſame over again. Beware of theſe ſubtle Pretenders to Patriotiſm, who, however ſpeciouſly they may appear before an election, inwardly are ravenous Wolves.

If you would form a ſober judgment of the qualifications and intentions of a CANDIDATE, you ought to enquire, whether he is poor, grasping or dependent, is rich and full, or proud and deſtitute of that tender ſympathy for the whole, which is inſeparable from public ſpiritedneſs: If he has been in any truſt before and was then negligent, partial or unfaithful, you know enough not to truſt him again; or has he a blind ſide, any notorious weakneſs which may be perceived by every body but himſelf, you and he will then become a prey to thoſe who never fail to improve ſuch defects in a repreſentive, to your diſadvantage: Moreover, the ſupple Courtier, the mercenary Dependant, the haughty lover of Pre-eminence, and the WARM ADVOCATE for ADVANCING PREROGATIVE, or the RUIN of LIBERTY and PRIVILEGE, can never be eſteemed fit to manage the affairs of any country, except where avarice and arbitrary power are triumphant over liberty, independence and happineſs.

It has been publickly ſaid, that any man may get into the next Aſſembly. If this, my countrymen, ſhould be true, how deplorable is your ſituation! But this I hope, neither is, or ever will be your caſe. For God's ſake Gentlemen, ſhew your ſpirit, your prudence and your activity upon this occaſion, and the hearty prayers and wiſhes of every honeſt and good man will attend you.

Let it no more be ſaid (as with truth it might heretofore have been ſaid) that you are ſo regardleſs of your INVALUABLE PRIVILEGES, as not to take the trouble to go a few furlongs to vote, but leave ſo IMPORTANT a concern as the choice of your Repreſentatives to a few, or as ſometimes happens, to ONE ſingle elector. Shameful neglect and inattention to the public good! Pray then, Gentlemen, conſider well of your choice in the enſuing election: Chooſe not thoſe who live at a great diſtance from you, and whoſe abilities, probity and fortunes are not well known to you; for afterwards it will be too late: Reject thoſe men who are narrow minded, they are unfit to govern ſociety; even the honeſty of ſuch is uſeleſs to the public, and it often is an ill inſtrument in the hands of crafty men who have none: Reject alſo all timorous, fearful and daſtardly ſpirits; for tho' they may have good principles, they either dare not own them, or are afraid to act agreeable thereto: Chooſe not men noted for non-attendance, who would rather engage in pleaſures and diverſions, than do their duty, tho' the colony were undoing; while therefore your happineſs or miſery depends on the breath of your REPRESENTATIVE, it is of great importance to you, that their attendance be as conſtant as their behaviour be honeſt; what excuſe can they offer, when by their wanton abſence a vote may paſs that may coſt you dear? We know what advantages have been taken, or attempted to be taken, of a thin Houſe, and are we aſſured that no ſuch advantages will hereafter be taken? Shun likewiſe all thoſe who are in the way of ambition, a paſſion which is rarely gratified by integrity and an honeſt zeal for your good: Shun all men of narrow fortunes, who are not for your purpoſe from obvious reaſons: Shun all men likewiſe of ill morals, and debauched and diſhoneſt lives; all gameſters, and thoſe who ſpend more than their income. Let neither fear, flattery or gain bias us in our elections; neither muſt our public choice be the recompence of private favours. This RIGHT of ELECTION is our inheritance; ALL depends upon it; therefore we ought not to make a ſwop of our own, or our poſterity's birthright, for a meſs of Pottage.

We do not ordinarily truſt a man with a ſmall ſum without a note, mortgage, or a bond, and ſuch ſecurity is but reaſonable; and is it not as reaſonable, that, when we truſt MEN with ALL we poſſeſs, as we do our repreſentatives, we ought to ſeek and procure ALL the ſecurity the nature of the thing will admit? Would it not be direct madneſs, to truſt our whole portion in this life, to thoſe whom no man would, in a private way, truſt for five ſhillings? Call to mind, Gentlemen, whether you have never heard of electors making ſuch a raſh and dangerous choice; and for God's ſake give no opportunity for ſaying the ſame of yourſelves.

I ſuppoſe you will agree with me, that men in public employments are not the propereſt for your choice. If ever your intereſts come in competition with their places, you may eaſily gueſs which muſt give way.

In the preſent choice, I apprehend, we ought to take men of the greateſt abilities, zeal, and reſolution, for promoting the public good; men who will think no time or pains too great to be beſtowed in the public ſervice of their country: We want thoſe who will uſe their beſt endeavours to preſerve, ſupport and defend the enjoyment of every CONSTITUTIONAL LIBERTY, RIGHT and PRIVILEGE that has been handed down to us by OUR FOREFATHERS, and which we CLAIM as BRITISH SUBJECTS: we want thoſe who will diligently apply themſelves to the great and important affairs of the colony. Inſtead of throwing away a great part of the ſeſſion upon mere trifles; not that I would be underſtood to condemn ſmall matters, but only expoſe the weakneſs of not adjuſting our attention to the proportion and importance of things. And it ought to be conſidered, that the next aſſembly (it is hoped) will have a GREAT WORK to do, which may be of laſting ſecurity and welfare to the inhabitants of the colony, if proper meaſures be purſued; otherwiſe the opportunity may be loſt for ever. Surely then, we ought to be uncommonly active and circumſpect in the choice of our repreſentatives.

To conclude. Conſider, Gentlemen, ſeriouſly of what you are about, and whether you will bring life or death upon us. Oh! take care of YOURSELVES, of US, and of YOUR and OUR POSTERITY: We are all in your hands ſtill; but very quickly the ſcene may be ſhifted, and both you and we not ſo much at our own diſpoſal for the time to come. Do not judge of CANDIDATES by their humble ſpeeches and condeſcending carriage; but think what they are likely to be when they no longer want your vote or intereſt.
